Ghana Regime Frees 450 In Nkrumah Jails

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Relatives cheered as Ghana's new military leaders released 450 political prisoners from Kwame Nkrumah's jails.

Thousands crowded around the massive Ussher Fort and other jails Friday to greet those coming out with kisses and tears. Many of the detainees were feeble and ill after years in prison.

Even as special police loyal to Nkrumah put up a last-ditch stand at Accra's radio station, Lt. Gen. J.A. Ankrah, chief of the new National Liberation Council, appointed a seven-man group of experts to get Ghana's economy moving again.

The group included officials whose carefully laid economic plan the new regime said had been distorted or ignored by Nkrumah. Among them were Albert Adomah, head of the Bank of Ghana, R. S. Amegashie, and B.K. Mensah. The latter two were educated in the United States.

A number of special police were reported killed during the battle at Broadcast House which, informants said, erupted during a visit there by Col. E. K. Kotoka, Kotoka is believed to have led the revolt that overthrew Nkrumah Thursday while the ousted leader was on a visit to Peking.

Otherwise the country was calm, but army and police pressed their hunt for officials of Nkrumah's Convention People's party which was outlawed after the coup.

The Ghana Times, formerly a special organ of the Convention People's party, quickly fell into line with the coup.

"Where are the Hitlers and Mussolinis of yesterday who used the name of the people to try to build huge empires for themselves and their families?" the newspaper said in an editorial.

The army raided the Kwame Nkrumah Ideological Institute 40 miles outside Accra Friday and arrested the faculty. The students had fled.

In Washington, the State Department said the new military government had approached the American ambassador in Accra on the question of recognition.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said it is "too early" to speak about recognition, and "it is too early to say" whether the military coup can be regarded as successfully concluded.

A dispatch from Peking by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Nkrumah declared, "I am returning to Ghana soon." He ordered any of the armed forces engaged in the uprising to return to their barracks. But a dispatch from Cairo said it was considered likely the fallen president would go there to join his wife and children.

His Egyptian-born wife, Fatima Halem Nkrumah, 35, arrived in Cairo Friday.

She, and the three Nkrumah children, Gamal, 9, Samia, 5, and John, 4, were flown out of Accra in an Egyptian airliner.

Mrs. Nkrumah told newsmen she was not mistreated by the rebels who took her to the Egyptian Embassy.

A Ghana Airways plane which took Nkrumah as far as Rangoon, Burma, on his way to Peking, returned to Ahra Friday. Four men identified as members of the president's personal bodyguard were taken away by soldiers.

Fistful Of Bills Found In Sewer

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A classroom told 5-year-old Joseph Karow there was a girl in a sewer that Joey passed on his way to kindergarten.

Joey lay on his belly and squinted through the heavy sewer grates Thursday. There wasn't any girl but Joey spotted a fistful of $10 and $20 bills down there.

Joey told his teacher, Miss Reva Freeman, but she apparently thought it was just another tall story from a tiny 5-year-old. So did Joey's mother when he told her.

But in a man-to-man talk with his father, Alfred, Joey finally got action. Karow and Joey drove to the sewer. Karow peered down with a flashlight and sure enough, there was the money.

Karow called police who in turn got firemen to go down and get the money, a considerable sum. Police were unwilling to say exactly how much there was.

Capt. Riley Stewart said if nobody proves ownership of the money within 30 days, Joey will have a well-stuffed piggy bank.

Lady Bird Raises Equality Plea In Alabama Speech

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — 4,000 delegates, students and faculty. The University of Alabama, once the scene of an ugly civil rights confrontation, displayed its Southern charm for visiting Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President's wife showed a deft Southern touch herself when she made a plea for racial tolerance without even mentioning such words as discrimination or civil rights.

She just said things like: "The greatest need of each human spirit is to walk with head high in the tonic air of self respect."

"The promise of equality first made in our Constitution is ours to keep."

And, custom and prejudice shouldn't deter us from "offering the hand of partnership in the American experience" to our neighbors.

Receptive Audience
The President's wife had perhaps her most receptive audience of many a speaking trip Friday when she addressed an Alabama leadership conference in an auditorium filled with 3,000 delegates, students and faculty.

ALMA (AP) — Construction of a new dormitory and dining hall costing $1,780,000 will begin at Alma College this spring, a college spokesman said Friday.

The building would accommodate 200 men and the dining hall 570 students, when completed next year.

Civil Leaders Installed By Syrian Junta

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's coup leaders named two civilians to head the new regime Friday night and relaxed curfew restrictions.

The left-wing military junta which seized power last Wednesday named Dr. Noured-din Atassi, 36, as chief of state, replacing deposed Gen. Amin Hafez.

Dr. Youssef Zayyen, 35, was appointed prime minister in place of Salah Bitar. The announcements, made over Radio Damascus, did not identify the members of the junta, which calls itself the "Temporary Command" of the Arab Socialist Baath party.

Military In Power
Other civilian members of the government were expected to be chosen from former Cabinet members of a three-month government headed by Zayyen last year. That government fell in December when more moderate Baathists installed Bitar as premier.

The "Temporary Command" announced that it would remain in power during an unspecified transition period and would retain the authority to fire the head of state and cabinet members.

Observers said this indicated that Atassi and Zayyen, both physicians, were a front for the junta to reduce its military image.

Troops Withdraw
Most of the troops, tanks and armored cars that moved into the center of the capital during the first two days of the coup have withdrawn to the outskirts of Damascus.

The radio announced that starting today residents will be allowed into the streets from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. Normal working hours will be resumed in government offices, institutions and schools, the radio said.

Damascus appeared to be calm. There was no further word on reported fighting between army units in northern Syria.

Hafez, the former head of state, and Mohammed Omran, ex-defense minister, were reported under arrest.

(Reports reaching neighboring Lebanon said from 300 to 1,000 persons may have been killed in the coup. Baathist sources in Beirut said the revolt apparently was masterminded by Gen. Salah Jadid, Hafez' army chief.)

Today's Chuckle

Isn't it a shame that future generations can't be here to see all the wonderful things the Government is doing with their money?

LT. ROBERT S. BORDEN, 35, a U.S. Navy doctor, stationed at the Boston Naval Shipyard, filed suit in Federal Court in Boston seeking to force the Defense Department to release him from the service. Lt. Borden contends his enlistment was extended illegally by the Navy. Borden said that when his enlistment expired last June he applied for release from the service effective last September. He said he was informed that due to the current international situation officer enlistments had been extended for one year. (AP Wirephoto)

Detroit Police A Go Go...

IT WAS KAREN the Go-Go Girl, whose full identity is Karen Lynn Davidson, 22, versus Patrolman James Brodie, right, when Detroit court Referee Frederick E. Byrd asked both to show just what went on in the discotheque where Karen is employed. Brodie had ticketed the owner, Henry Roman, accusing him of "allowing immoral, vulgar and suggestive or freak dancing." Karen won in a breeze, the officer admitting that as a go-go girl, he was a better cop. The case was adjourned to May 25. (AP Wirephoto)

Million Students To Take Draft Deferment Exams

WASHINGTON (AP) — One million draft-eligible students are expected to take the Selective Service college qualification tests this spring. The exams will help draft boards determine whether the students may stay in school or be drafted.

Selective Service announced Friday that the test would be given on May 14, May 2 and June 3 at 1,200 locations throughout the continental United States, Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone.

Draft deferment tests were last used during the Korean war.

College students and high school students graduating this year will be eligible — but they must apply to take the test by April 23. The test is optional.

Science Research Associates of Chicago will administer the exams which will be similar to general aptitude tests. About 50 per cent will relate to verbal and linguistic skills and the other 50 per cent to quantitative reasoning.

The three-hour test will cover four areas: reading comprehension; verbal relations; arithmetic reasoning; and data interpretation.

A Selective Service spokesman said the test has been so constructed that no special advantage will be given to any type of major course students are pursuing.

In announcing a return to the Korean war procedure, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, said the tests will provide local boards with more data on students when they consider college deferment requests next autumn.

Under the new deferment procedures, local draft boards will seek information on class standing with the examinations in determining student deferments.

The use of class standings has been assailed by some college administrators as being unfair.

Some said they may refuse to cooperate with draft boards.

Dr. John Weaver, vice president for instruction at Ohio State University, called the use of class ranking "a dangerous way to go about" deferment. He said a student low-ranked at a top school might stand far higher at one where standards are less demanding.

Dean John U. Monro of Harvard University said he would comply if students request that he withhold academic data from their draft boards.

About 1.8 million college students now hold deferments. At present draft boards grant such deferments on the basis of assurances from schools that students are enrolled full time and are doing satisfactory work.

Marines Battle Cong Offensive

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines fought off a determined Viet Cong attack near Chu Lai today and U.S. artillery duelled with enemy mortar fire as the Communists continued to step up their offensive.

Today's attack by about 100 Red troops on a 50-man Marine unit marked the second time in two days that the Viet Cong struck at U.S. emplacements.

A force of 160 Leathernecks hurled back a Viet Cong attack Friday night at Phu Bai, killing three Communists, spokesmen said. Marine losses were reported light.

Base Attacked
Today's target for the Viet Cong was Phu Loi, an artillery base area 15 miles north of Saigon. U.S. spokesmen said the Reds fired 16 mortar rounds, but casualties were light.

The Viet Cong were also active in the northern part of the Mekong Delta, attacking a government outpost Friday 60 miles southwest of Saigon. A spokesman said the 60-man defense force suffered heavy casualties.

For the fourth straight day, air attacks over North Viet Nam were hampered by poor weather. An Air Force spokesman said all the bombing Friday was by radar.

Air Force pilots flying F105 Thunderchief jets smashed at an ammunition depot and storage area five miles from the city of Vinh. Other Air Force targets included the Vinh Loc bridge and highway complex.

Navy Skyraiders and F4 Phantoms from the carrier Ranger hit a mountain pass Friday 37 miles southwest of Vinh. In the ground war, the Viet Cong attack on the U.S. Marine position began with a barrage of mortars and recoilless rifles. The main attack came at dawn when Viet Cong fighters managed to cut their way through the outer triple apron of wire.

As they clawed through the single inner wire strand the assault was halted by concentrated small arms fire and artillery support from the embattled Marines.

The latest body count said that 18 Viet Cong bodies were found together with four submachine guns, four rifles and 50 hand grenades. Marine casualties were light.

Catholics Suspend Unionist Priest
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young priest, in trouble with his cardinal since 1964 when he asked the Pope for the prelate's dismissal, has been suspended from the priesthood after urging that priests form a union.

The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles said the action was taken because of "irreverence and disobedience."

But said the Rev. William H. DuBay: "I could not allow myself to be muzzle."

Father DuBay, 31, said his suspension was ordered by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles.

The archdiocese said the "suspension will be in effect until its provisions are withdrawn by the ordinary of the diocese (Cardinal McIntyre)."

Father DuBay said he has appealed to the Pope for an ecclesiastical trial.

Blastoff Comes After Troubles In Fuel Tanks

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The mightiest rocket ever built by the United States, a Saturn 1B, thundered skyward today in an attempt to hurl the first unmanned Apollo moonship over a blazing re-entry course.

The launching was the first of a long series of Apollo shots aimed at landing American astronauts on the moon in this decade. If there are no major problems, the historic adventure could be achieved on the 12th launching, early in 1968.

The huge Saturn 1B, 22 stories tall and weighing 650 tons on liftoff, blazed away from Cape Kennedy at 11:11 a.m. (EST) on the tremendous 1.6 million pounds of thrust generated by its first stage powerplant, a massive cluster of eight engines.

Football Field Tall
A tail of flame the length of a football field fanned out behind the rocket as it climbed upward, tilting over on a south-east heading.

The rocket was launched after the shot at one time was postponed today because of problems associated with pressurizing the first stage fuel tanks.

The postponement announcement was made by NASA at 10:45 a.m. (EST). Ten minutes later, as newsmen were about to leave the Cape Kennedy press site, the control center announced that a further look at data showed that the trouble had been corrected.

Earlier, at 9:03 a.m., the count was halted just four seconds before liftoff when an electronic trouble — sensing device noted the low pressure and automatically ordered a stop.

Countdown Recycled
The countdown was recycled to 15 minutes and held there while technicians adjusted a pressure regulator in ground support equipment.

The launching was the first for the Saturn 1B, which may be the most powerful rocket ever launched. However, Soviet secrecy on the size of their rockets prevents comparison. Saturn 1B is forerunner of the Saturn 5, which will be the moon booster.

The rocket was to propel the unmanned three-seat Apollo ship 310 miles into space and then drive it back through the earth's atmosphere at more than 18,000 miles an hour to determine how well it survives jolting forces and searing heat.

The control center reported about three minutes after launching that the second stage engine had ignited as planned at an altitude of about 40 miles.

On the downward plunge, a spacecraft motor was to ignite twice in the first flight test of a propulsion unit that will steer Apollo astronauts to the moon and bring them home.

Landing Planned
Nearly 40 minutes after launching, the 11,000-pound cabin section of the craft was to parachute to a landing in the south Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy, near Ascension Island.

A recovery fleet of ships and planes, headed by the aircraft carrier Boscawen, was stationed in the area to retrieve the cone-shaped cabin.

Ford Aide Joins Free Press Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — James M. Mudge, press secretary to Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., is resigning to accept a position with The Detroit Free Press.

Ford, the House Republican leader, said in a statement Friday that Mudge will take over as chief of the newspaper's city-county bureau, with the responsibility of directing coverage of Detroit city and Wayne County governments.

Mudge was a member of the Free Press' editorial staff for about five years before coming to Washington as Ford's press secretary.

Ford did not say when the resignation will become effective or who will replace Mudge.

Govt. Backing Police Query

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has added its influential voice to the mounting public debate over the rights of suspects being questioned by the police.

Its view, as expressed by the Justice Department to the Supreme Court: immediate questioning by police is a vital tool of law enforcement. Confessions so obtained should be admitted in court unless it is proved they have been unconstitutionally compelled.

While asking the high court to endorse the right of policemen to question their suspects, the department urged in a brief filed here that the courts examine each case individually for possible violations of constitutional rights, rather than attempt to set forth a list of rules to apply to all cases.

It was the Justice Department's first formal expression of opinion in a legal battle that has seen law enforcement officials castigate the Supreme Court for so tying their hands with constitutional limitations that they are unable to accomplish their foremost mission: fighting crime.

Now Up To Voters:

State Committee Okays School District Change

Recommendations that the 19 school districts in Delta and Schoolcraft Counties be reorganized and reduced to four have been approved by the State Reorganization Committee.

Hagie Quarnstrom, superintendent of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District, was informed of the approval Friday afternoon by Roger Boline, Lansing, of the Michigan Department of Education administrative services.

"The next step will be the approval of the plan by the voters in each of the proposed reorganized districts," said Quarnstrom.

The vote may take place after 90 days and up to six months from now.

Vote In June? Quarnstrom said that a budget meeting of the Intermediate School District is scheduled for Tuesday night at Rapid River. Present will be representatives of each of the districts, and at that time the scheduling of elections on the reorganization will be discussed.

"There is the possibility that some — or all — of the districts might want to put the question of approval to the voters in their districts at the regular school elections to be held the second Monday in June," Quarnstrom said.

The recommended reorganization came originally from a study committee composed of persons from Delta and Schoolcraft counties. The study committee was composed of 18 persons and the plan received unanimous approval.

The reorganization was begun and is proceeding along lines established by the Michigan Legislature. The objective throughout the state is to bring all school districts into districts that provide a complete kindergarten through 12th grade educational program.

Four Districts The state has approved a reorganization plan that will reduce the present number of 19 school districts to four — three in Delta and one in Schoolcraft. The recommended four districts are:

- 1 - The Bark River-Harris and Escanaba Area Public Schools Districts.
- 2 - The Gladstone city, Flat Rock, Brantford, Baldwin, Rock and Rapid River Districts.
- 3 - The Nahma, Garden, Fairbanks and Cooks Districts.

4 - The Manistique city and all Schoolcraft County districts except Seney.

Seney To Newberry The desire had been to place Nahma in with the Rapid River district but because of the travel distances and sparsity of population involved, it was decided to place Nahma with Garden and Fairbanks of Delta County and Cooks of Schoolcraft County into one district.

There was recognition that the Nahma (133), Garden (215), Fairbanks (62) and Cooks (205) combination does not have the 2,000 population standard the state considers advisable. But because of travel distance involved it was deemed advisable to recommend such a district for state approval.

In Schoolcraft County the present districts of Germfask, Mueller, Doyle, Fairview, Hiawatha, Thompson and Manistique City would be combined into one district under the proposal.

Seney School district which now sends its high school students to Newberry would be considered as a part of the Newberry district.

U.P. Transport Study Ordered

A study of the transportation facilities in a 48-county area of Northern Michigan was approved today by Eugene P. Foley, assistant secretary of commerce for economic development.

Approximately $65,000 in federal funds for the technical assistance study will come from the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce. The study area will consist of all 15 counties in the Upper Peninsula and a 33-county area of the northern portion of the Lower Peninsula.

Objective of the study will be to determine the adequacy of existing transportation facilities and to identify inequities and inadequacies which have an effect on the area's economic development.

This area of Northern Michigan has suffered unemployment and underemployment, and a lag in business activity. In part attributed to its geographical location in relation to the nation's major markets, the decline in business activity has caused a decline in freight traffic. This in turn has caused cost increases, which have been passed on in higher rates, to the point where some of the region's products have become non-competitive in their markets.

There also has been a decline in the quality and quantity of transportation services available, particularly by rail and intercoastal water carriers. This also has hindered economic growth.

The study goal will be to develop the information and recommendations needed to help industry in the area improve its economic position by utilizing new and more effective distribution techniques.

Trouble In Paradise

The government has been working at the business of stimulating the economy and it has spent a lot of money in the process and been quite successful at the task.

The strategy has been to make available to commercial banks all the funds they can lend; to provide plenty of easy credit. On the labor front there's been a wage-price guideline of 3.2 per cent, but there's been quite a bit of violation of the limit on wage increases.

The result is that we've got a boom. It would be impossible to draw a line between the economic growth that evolved naturally out of common causes and the economic growth that was stimulated by the government's encouragement of employment, higher wages and easier credit, but when we bundle all the gains they're impressive. The economy is bubbling.

But it is possible to have too much of a good thing and there are serious indications that we have had too much in America. The Johnson Administration, having tried so hard to enlarge the national business boom, and having taken credit for being one of its authors, isn't anxious to put on the brakes, but it sees the signs of inflation that are apparent to the economists.

Administration economists have the assignment of keeping the inflationary forces from getting out of hand, economists outside the administration aren't under as much political pressure and are freer to express themselves.

They note that for the third straight month the Wholesale Price Index has risen. It's now 3.6 per cent over a year ago. In the 7 years before 1965 this index was virtually static. Increases of the size recorded recently have always been accompanied by rises in consumer prices.

The Consumer Price Index has been rising at an annual rate of nearly 6 per cent. Shoppers have noticed it. The shortage of skilled workers is mentioned everywhere. Labor recruiters from the big towns are visiting the little towns. Industry's operations are near capacity.

People have more money to spend and they're spending it. There's much talk of our new Affluent Society that President Johnson is going to convert into a Great Society by lifting up its lower strata into the general sharing of the new plenty.

The Administration's difficult job is to control credit, prices and wages so they're in balance with money, goods and labor supplies. There is already some imbalance and it is welcomed because it tends to increase income, but to the degree that inflation causes this result it is a gyp, and our increased income buys nothing because the things we spend our income for cost more.

The administration has been trying to create mild inflation by money and government spending policies and it has done this, while at the same time cracking business to keep down prices with "voluntary" controls. When the War in Viet Nam was enlarged the Johnson Administration didn't cut back on its home front Great Society welfare projects. They increase inflationary pressures by adding stimulations to the economy where restraints are needed.

The signs of developing trouble are everywhere. It takes longer to get steel deliveries. Manufacturing inventories are up; indicating stockpiling in fear of inflation. Stock averages fell last week, indicating the uneasiness of Wall Street about inflation. When the Johnson Administration raised the interest on savings bonds to 4.15 per cent last week it was stressed that it would curb inflation by siphoning money out of the market place into savings. When the plan was discussed earlier the stress was on getting more government loan money.

The administration, trying not to offend big labor by too hardnosed an attitude on inflationary wage increases, is now facing the inevitable and preparing plans for higher personal and corporation taxes to take more money away from the public, "just in case." Things are so good they're a little sick.

Let's Curb Latin Reds

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There are simple, inexpensive things Americans can do now to help prevent South Viet Nam-type guerrilla wars in Latin America.

One of these possibilities is told dramatically in a letter from a Mexican high school senior, Jaime Reyes, who lives in Matamoros, Mexico. Jaime's letter was addressed to a contact in Miami, Fla., and follows:

"I'm requesting your cooperation on the following subject: Last September I was appointed president of the 'Mariano Matamoros' High School Students' Association, in this city, and since then an Indian from Oaxaca, who calls himself 'the defender of the working class,' has been here twice to see me. The man has told me all about his trip to Cuba, where he was sent to be indoctrinated and trained, and also has told me how communism is being slowly introduced everywhere, through towns, cities and countries.

"He talks a lot about 'materialism' and has offered me good jobs, an easy life and even riches if I become a Communist. You may imagine how I must feel about this fellow who wants to make a Communist out of me at any price, so that I may 'communize' the students' association. He's always bringing me magazines, pamphlets and lots of propaganda. There's no doubt that the fellow came out of Communist Cuba very well-trained.

"On the other hand, I have my own moral principles, as I am a good Catholic and am studying my senior year in high school. . . . I don't believe the one word this guy tells me. All the propaganda he has given me so far, I have burned or given to a Catholic priest.

"The request is granted to the student strikers.

"If responsible officials cannot stand up in firm resistance, the one word this guy tells me. All the propaganda he has given me so far, I have burned or given to a Catholic priest.

"The request is granted to the student strikers.

you send me, as soon as possible books, pamphlets, magazines or written messages containing anti-Communist themes, so that I may prepare myself to confront this 'soulless' Communist, who is also after the leaders of other organizations.

"I also want you to send me, without charge, pamphlets, magazines or any other material you may consider suitable for distributing among 400 or 500 students in our association, so that if they receive (Communist) propaganda from other sources, they may be prepared and won't accept it."

It will be simple to supply Jaime Reyes with the material he needs.

But Mariano Matamoros High School is only one of hundreds of high schools and colleges in Central and South America where this same quiet battle is going on.

The Communists in Latin America, as elsewhere, have made high schools and colleges primary targets.

There are thousands of young men like Jaime Reyes who are willing to stand up for what they believe—and who only need the intellectual materials to fight with.

If we back these courageous youngsters now, it may save our sending troops at some later date.

Ohio Community Is Penniless

Little City That Went Broke

By ROGER DOUGHTY

STRUTHERS, Ohio—(NEA) —The 16,000 people of this little city had no trouble at all understanding the bitter issues in New York's mayoral campaign.

The two cities have common problems. Civic apathy. Dirt. Pollution.

"You name the problem," says Struthers Mayor Stanley Davis, "and we've got it."

Davis and New York Mayor John Lindsay have much in common: Each is the first Republican mayor to serve his city in 20 years.

Both inherited financial messes, but Davis has gone Lindsay one step worse: Unlike New York, Struthers is flat broke.

Nobody is saying how much Struthers has in the bank, or how much it owes. But it's common knowledge in the community that the two figures aren't even close.

Firmly fastened on the smog-shrouded shore of the Mahoning River a few miles from Youngstown, Struthers is a typical factory town. The air is thick with grime. Paint and plaster peel from buildings. A stranger gets the impression that even a knight on a white charger would have trouble making this city whiter than white.

Families who have lived here for generations cannot understand how the city managed to go broke.

Davis understands all too well. Communities go broke the same way people do—by spending more money than they take in.

The city's seven councilmen, all Democrats, say something has to be done, but so far they haven't been able to see eye-to-eye with their new mayor.

"Too many people have been playing politics instead of working to solve the problem," said one citizen. "This mess has been building up for years."

Davis, a former councilman himself, began his new job by slicing the city budget, cutting back city services and passing the word to all departments that economy is the key to success. "I've been able to save a few thousand dollars here and there," he said, "barely enough to make a dent."

"Two things ruined us. The state and federal governments ordered us to build a sewage treatment plant in 1960 at a cost of more than $1 million. A levy was passed to pay for the plant, but there was no sewer rental fee and the city lost more than $60,000 a year on that plant alone."

Some of the sewage treated at the Struthers plant comes from Youngstown and other communities. While argument raged as to who should pick up the tab for the plant operation, Struthers sank deeper into debt.

The second crushing blow, said Davis, came in 1963 when Ohio ordered Struthers to establish a municipal court.

"The court just hasn't been able to pay its own way," Davis said. "It brings in $20,000 and costs $35,000 to operate. You figure it out."

Struthers also must shell out $175,000, after federal aid, for a new city hall and a service department garage. The old one fell apart.

Mayor Davis recently proposed a plan he said would save $65,000 a year:

"We have a private contractor pick up trash. The city pays most of the bill. Businessmen pay to have their rubbish picked up, but other residents don't. I wanted to ask the people of the city to pay for the collection for one year. That would have saved us $65,000 and we could have paid some of our bills."

The mayor's trash plan was defeated. Instead, the council voted to buy trucks and start a city sanitation force. "This will cost $45,000 a year," Davis estimated. "I vetoed the idea once, but council overrode me and now we are in the garbage business."

The worst may be yet to come. Davis is now trying to stave off a federal order that would force Struthers to build a secondary sewage plant as part of the stepped-up anti-pollution program.

"Still, if we all work together," Davis said, "I think we can find a way out of this mess."

Not everyone agrees. "I don't know who to blame," one resident said, "but a lot of people think we'd be better off if we plowed the whole town under and started from scratch."

Finding The Way

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

There's a plaintive little whine, which was stated by one who remembered her marriage with a twinge of disillusionment:

"As soon as he took me for better or worse, He also took me for granted."

That could be one of the reasons for so many breakups in marriage. There are many others. The significant factor is that we have a serious problem which affects life in our nation.

Laws concerning marriage and divorce ought to be under constant scrutiny. There is an ironic farce that drives so many persons to some of our states or to Mexico for "quickie" divorces! That's not necessarily a criticism of the couples; it's a judgment on our own false piety that tolerates a legal system that doesn't deal with the situation.

Of course, divorce is a tragedy. The shattering of a marriage union creates spiritual, psychological and social problems that affect the husband and wife and foist dilemmas on the children. It's one thing to lament the situation; it's another thing to deal with it.

The simple truth is that marriage is not strengthened by unrealistic laws. When families from every echelon of society go through some fiction of residence, marriage isn't strengthened. When couples in some of our states consider fraud as a way of handling their problems, marriage isn't strengthened.

Law is dynamic. It is always necessary to confront, examine and revise. To those who are concerned with the moral structure of our nation, there needs to be more consideration of honesty in dealing with the welfare of our homes and our families.

Years ago a devoted friend wrote a prayer for our own marriage. It reads:

"We pray Thee, O God, that Thou wilt bless our new home, and write over its doorway, 'Peace be unto this household.'"

"Dwell with Thy peace in our hearts, guide us in our daily lives, and prosper Thou the labor of our hands."

"Give us a love for each other that will ever rejoice in virtue, a comradeship that will continue all our days. May our new home be a haven, a refuge, a miniature of the heavenly home to bring us cheer, contentment and peace."

To have this quality of family life is to enjoy riches beyond measure. You wish it for all. Since we don't have the ideal everywhere, we need laws that encourage reconciliation, that deal with realities, that inspire honesty and assist our citizens who live in the midst of so many devastating dilemmas.

Ann Landers Pregnant Teen Caged At Home

Dear Ann Landers. My best friend is 15. Kitty (made up name) was always a shy girl and had very few dates. I was shocked when she swore me to secrecy and admitted she was pregnant.

The boy responsible is a sailor who shipped out last month. Kitty wrote to you for advice and you suggested she tell her parents at once. Well, she took your advice and now she is like a prisoner. Her parents made her quit school. They will not let her out of the house even to hang out clothes. She must stay in her room, out of sight, when friends or relatives come over. Everyone has been told that she is out west in a T.B. sanitarium.

Arrangements have been made for the baby to be delivered at home. Kitty is bitterly resentful that she is caged up like an animal. What can be done to help her? — HEART-SICK FRIEND

Dear Friend. Ask her to let you contact a clergyman. An adult who has some standing in the community should intervene in Kitty's behalf. Her parents are doing the girl a horrible injustice.

Kitty should be in a home for unwed mothers, continuing her education and living among other girls who can offer her friendship and understanding.

Dear Ann Landers. I'd like to tell "Massachusetts Mother" a thing or two. She said nurse's aide work was degrading and that she was ashamed her Boston socialite daughter was spending her time that way.

I am a nurse's aide because I learned too late that I should have been a nurse.

Today I cared for six patients, did things for them that the nurses have no time to do. One dear old lady in her 70's, the victim of a stroke, is my special pet. I carried her breakfast in and fed her. I gave her a bath, changed her bed linen and brushed her lovely hair.

She was undoubtedly a rare beauty in her time — the signs are still there. Today the woman is totally helpless.

"Massachusetts Mother," this could be you in 10 years. Would you then think nurse's aide work is degrading? — PROUD

Dear Proud: I received hundreds of letters from nurse's aides describing the satisfactions and rewards of their jobs. Thanks to all who wrote and especially you.

This year, southern folk learned that Jack Frost is no northern myth.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Sin is a disagreeable word that millions shun. It casts a shadow of separation. It raises chill thoughts of an impenetrable and eternal barrier between humanity and God...

Forgiveness on the other hand is a warm and inspiring word. It promises that life's slate can be wiped clean. It brings us close to God — and to one another.

An Execution on a Friday centuries ago... an Empty Tomb in the dawn of the first Easter Day... a Faith that has gripped human souls for all the generations since — these are forever entwined with the stark realization of man's sin and the blessed assurance of God's forgiveness.

That is why, when we think deeply of the meaning of these words — of their implication in our own lives — we find ourselves at the very heart of the Christian religion.

And it is why these soul-stirring weeks at the threshold of Christ's suffering have long been the time for such searching thought!

...and FORGIVENESS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

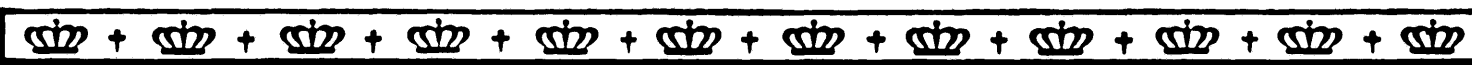

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE
Dear Folks:
Here's something I would like to suggest to housewives who don't have much strength, or those whose hands are crippled with arthritis.

There is usually more than one ice tray in your refrigerator. Why don't you fill ONE only about half full with water? This way you won't get as much ice — we all know that — but you will always have those other trays in case of an emergency.

The partially filled tray freezes much faster in the refrigerator, and when you need ice in a hurry, it takes much less energy to release the gadget on the tray to get the ice out! (Too, I have found that if you put a smaller amount of water in an ice tray, the release handle is less likely to break.)

Sometimes you will want thin ice instead of great, big ice cubes when you want some instant coffee, or your neighbor drops in for iced tea or lemonade. Really great!

Dear Heloise:
Did you ever take a notion to watch T.V., or listen to a special program on radio at a certain time, only to find you had forgotten to tune in or turn on your set... until the program was over?

I did the same thing until I learned to set my alarm clock for five minutes before the program was scheduled to come on.

Now, I carry on with my work, knowing my alarm clock will give me a call for my leisure time.

Mrs. M. A. Fisher

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:
I am at the age when a few extra calories show — so, just before lunch and dinner (when I am usually famished), I brush my teeth!

Maybe it's the taste of the toothpaste which curbs my appetite — the important thing is that I am winning the battle of the bulge!

My husband thinks I'm a fair candidate for the booby hatch, but I am sure some of your readers would like to try my method. It's much more pleasant than a diet!

Hester Murden

Dear Heloise:
I have a helpful suggestion which may save a lot of spills. I pour rubbing alcohol from the bottle into a spray bottle (such as from a window cleaner), and store it that way.

I find it so much easier to apply, rather than pouring it into the palm of my hand — and most likely letting it spill.

Mary Fazio

Dear Heloise:
I wanted to dice cooked potatoes for salad the other evening, so I held the cold, peeled potato in one hand, and sliced it one way, turning the potato and sliced it the other way — with my cheese cutter!

Much easier than using a knife.

Have also used my cheese cutter for dicing other cooked vegetables, such as beets, carrots, etc.

Phyllis C. Royston

Dear Heloise:
I wear slacks for house work (because I am always chilly), so I need camisoles to wear under blouses and sweaters.

I cut off the bottoms of old slips (if the tops are still good), leaving enough to tuck inside my slacks, and hem them.

I have inexpensive and comfy camisoles which are attractive under thin blouses.

Mrs. E. F.

Braves Nip Sault To Close Campaign

GLADSTONE — Coach Bill Wood's Gladstone Braves saved their most impressive performance of the season for the last game, upsetting the Soo Blue Devils by a 79-76 margin in Great Lakes Conference action last night.

The Braves came through with 19 free throws to aid their cause as the invading Blue Devils outscored them from the field, 36 goals to 30.

Soo committed 19 personal fouls and paid the penalty.

Pairings Set In Holy Name Cage Tourney

Menominee and Munising were matched in the opening round game of the Class B district tournament at Holy Name in the drawings made at halftime of the Crusader-Mountaineer game here Friday night.

The host Crusaders will face Iron Mountain in the other first round contest.

Menominee and Munising will meet Wednesday, March 2, at 8. Gladstone and Holy Name will play Thursday, March 3, at 8. Winners will advance to the district title Saturday, March 5, at 8.

Brawley Out As Emeralds Get Setback

MUNISING — Coach Rudie Brannstrom discovered just how much 6-foot-3 inch center Tom Brawley means to his Emerald basketball team Friday night.

With Brawley sitting on the bench with a knee injury, the Emeralds dropped a 94-77 decision to Munising in the regular-season finale for both teams. The Mustang triumph reversed an earlier 80-68 Manistique victory which Brawley helped avenge with 15 points and 13 rebounds.

It gave Munising a 13-3 season record. The Emeralds, who had won seven of their last eight starts entering the game, will take a 12-4 mark into next Saturday's district tournament at Rudyard.

Brawley is expected to be ready.

Without him Friday, the Emeralds fell behind early and despite a 50-point blast in the second half were never able to catch up.

Munising raced to a 24-16 edge in the first quarter and expanded it to 47-27 at the half as junior Dan Kriekard triggered 17 points. Chuck Clement led a trio of Munising 20-point

Gladstone hit on 19 of 29 gift opportunities while Soo had only 11 chances from the line and connected on 4.

Gladstone threw a tight press on the Blue Devils from the opening tipoff and raced to a 10 point lead in the first quarter.

Soo stormed back into contention in the second stanza with a 28 point rally to narrow its deficit to 43-42 at halftime. The Braves continued their go-go style in the third period and pulled away again, 60-54.

The Blue Devils battled into a tie at 63-63 with six minutes to go but began fading as the Braves continued their full court pressure. Gladstone opened up a six point lead and stalled it out in the hectic final minutes of the contest.

The Braves won in spite of an outstanding board performance by the lanky invaders. Soo had a big 43-22 bulge in rebounds.

The victory was the fifth of the season for the Braves, against 11 setbacks. Gladstone finished strong by winning three of its last four starts.

For Soo, the final season record was 7-10. The Blue Devils finished fourth in the Great Lakes Conference race, the Braves seventh.

Mark Goodman led three Braves in double scoring digits with 24 points. Dick Anderson added 18 and Russ Sargent 17.

Brad Shouldice topped Soo scorers with 25 points while Lynn Swan and Boulton tossed in 20 apiece.

The victory was Trenary's 10th in 18 starts for the season while the Broncs finished with a 4-14 mark.

It took an explosive fourth quarter by the Comets to catch an upset-minded Bronco quint last night. Bark River-Harris fired out to a 24-16 lead in the first period and led by two entering the final frame.

Trenary burned the laces with 38 points in the final eight minutes of action with Kim Peterson tossing in 19 and Dennis Ylisen 12. The two teamed up to account for 50 points in the second half of the game.

Peterson finished with 41 and Ylisen 32 while Ron Sharkey paced the Broncs with 27.

Holy Name Goes Down To 18th Loss In Row

The Holy Name Crusader basketball team ended the season Friday night the same way they started it — striving mightily for victory, but going down to defeat, 70-59, to Iron Mountain in a Great Northern Conference contest.

The setback was the final chapter in a dark cage book for the Crusaders who lost 18 straight games this season.

Coach John Butrymovich's cagers never gave up the battle, but the odds were stacked against them in all departments. They were outshot, outrebounced and outmaneuvered by the invading Mountaineers coached by Irwin DeMerse.

It seemed as if Holy Name was headed for a string-snapper in the early going. The Crusaders hustled to an 8-5 lead midway in the first period but couldn't find the range from the free throw line and slipped behind at the end of the period, 17-13. They tallied on only three of a possible eight gift shots in the frame.

The Crusaders battled back in the first minutes of the second period to take a 19-18 lead on a pair of free throws and a field goal by Fran Veldman and a bucket by Tom Smith.

The Mountaineers countered with 10 straight points, however, for a 28-19 margin and Holy Name was never able to catch up again.

Late in the third period the Crusaders got within four points at 45-41 on another two pointer by Smitty. In the fourth quarter the Mountaineers took command and won going away. They had a 19 point lead with two minutes to go in the game.

Inability to cash in from the free throw line hurt the Crusaders considerably. They converted only 11 of 27 charity tosses. What hurt even worse, they missed the first of five one-and-one opportunities, including three straight early in the fourth quarter when they trailed by only nine points.

Four Mountaineers reached double scoring figures, headed by 6 foot 2 inch sophomore John Webb with 19 points. Brian Oumette, another 6-2 soph, tossed in 13 points while Rudy Steiner, a 5-11 1/4 sophomore, tallied 11 and guard Mark Eslinger, 5-9 junior, tossed in 10.

The Mountaineers outscored the Crusaders by two field goals, 26-24, and hit on 18 of 34 free throws.

Smith, Holy Name's 6 foot 2 inch junior center, paced his mates with 14 points while Tom Plouff and Jim Anderson contributed 10 each.

Rapid Rockets Lose Battle Of Champions

NEGAUNEE — The Emeralds of St. Paul won the battle of champions here Friday night, defeating Rapid River 91-80 in the season finale for both teams.

Coach Gordy LeDuc's cagers are current champs of the Mid-Peninsula Conference while Coach Bill McGovern's Rapid River quint is the champion of the Central loop.

As in their first meeting when the Rockets bowed 70-58, Rapid River suffered one cold quarter that spelled defeat. Rapid led, 25-22, at the end of the first period but managed only 12 points in the second frame and trailed at halftime, 47-37. The teams were exactly even in scoring through the second half, each hitting 43 points.

Major factor in St. Paul's victory was a superior rebounding performance. The Emeralds gave Rapid River only eight offensive rebounds in the entire game.

The two clubs put on a torrid shooting exhibition, capping 50 per cent of their shots from the field. St. Paul connected on 37 of 74 goals and added 17 of 21 free throws. Rapid River tallied 34 of 68 from the floor and 12 of 19 from the line.

Pat Larabee of Rapid River and Pete Mell of St. Paul shared individual scoring honors with 26 points. Bob Anderson tossed in 23 and Gene Bezzl 20 for the Rockets while George Torrance came through with 23 for the Emeralds.

In the preliminary game the Holy Name freshman team edged the Iron Mountain jayvees, 50-45.

Channing Nips Carney Wolves

CARNEY — Coach Bob Kuntze's Carney Wolves got off to a bad start here Friday night in their final game of the regular season and chased Channing to the wire before bowing, 74-68.

Down by a 23-13 margin at the end of the first period in which they were guilty of a dozen poor passes, the Wolves managed to climb within three points of the Big Seven Conference champs with seven minutes to go.

The setback snapped Carney's five game victory streak and closed the books on the season with an 11-7 record.

Spencer Bichel rammed in 24 points and hauled down 17 rebounds for an outstanding individual performance for the Wolves. Freshman Todd Lindeman paced the Railroaders to their 17th victory in 18 starts with 21 points, including 10 in the first quarter.

Carney won the jayvee game, 67-58.

No Apology From Clay; Illinois Calls Off Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Unbending Cassius Clay and the attorney general of Illinois today appeared to have killed Clay's scheduled heavyweight title match with Ernie Terrell here March 29 and probably chased it elsewhere.

Official cancellation of the bout was expected Monday when the Illinois Athletic Commission was scheduled to meet again.

A spokesman for Main Bouts, Inc., owning closed circuit television rights to the virtually-cancelled Chicago match, said three cities were receptive to taking over the bout.

The MBI spokesman, Bob Aaron, declined to identify the possible sites of a bout ahead of Clay's likely April induction into the Army, but a Pittsburgh promoter said he was offered the match by Clay interests.

In an incredible series of events Friday, the scheduled Clay-Terrell bout in Chicago was blown skyhigh when:

1—Clay testily refused to apologize before the Illinois State Athletic Commission for his "unpatriotic remarks" in an outburst eight days ago when his Louisville, Ky., Draft Board reclassified him 1-A.

2—The three-member boxing commission hastily recessed until Monday after Clay's assertion that he didn't come from his Miami training camp to "make a showdown plea or apologize the way the press said I would."

3—Atty. Gen. William G. Clark minutes later declared the proposed fight was illegal anyway for violations of the Illinois boxing code.

Clay's performance at the somewhat weird commission meeting was typical of the unpredictable 24-year-old undefeated champion.

Instead of an expected contrite apology for his anti-draft blast in which he said that as a Black Muslim he wanted no part of the Viet Nam war, Clay in effect blamed the press for his adverse publicity.

"If I got any apologizing to do, I'll do it to government officials, the draft board and others," Clay blurted to the amazement of the commission which reportedly would have reaffirmed the fight if Clay was properly apologetic.

But equally strange was the fact the commission called the meeting to order some 40 minutes after the attorney general had told the group in closed session to inform the bout principals the fight was illegal.

Clark said the license of National Sports Promotions, Inc., carried the name of two individuals and under the Illinois Exhibition Art, a corporation must be represented by at least 50 persons.

Clark also added that both Clay and Terrell failed to meet compliance of the Illinois Boxing Act.

The later charge was not specified by Clark, but the attorney general pointed out that the Clay-Terrell contract violations came under a section barring licenses to fighters except to those of "good and stable moral character . . . not likely to engage in acts detrimental to the public."

Wilt Perfect On Gift Shots

By The Associated Press
They threw a party for Wilt Chamberlain in Philadelphia and the big guy celebrated at the foul line.

Chamberlain, who broke the National Basketball Association's all-time scoring record two weeks ago, was honored for the feat before Friday night's game against New York.

Then Wilt, whose only shortcoming in seven brilliant NBA seasons has been foul shooting, sank seven for seven from the free line and scored 35 points in a 130-124 victory over the Knicks.

In the only other game Friday night, San Francisco defeated Cincinnati 125-119 on the West Coast.

It was clutch shooting by Chamberlain and rookie Bill Cunningham in the last 3½ minutes that held off a late surge by the red-hot Knicks, who had won 11 of 14 and three straight.

The victory moved the 76ers within two games of idle Boston in the NBA's tight Eastern Division race. Meanwhile, third place Cincinnati slipped five games back of the Celtics by losing to San Francisco.

Rick Barry made six of six foul shots and Tom Meschery grabbed eight rebounds in the last four minutes, leading San Francisco past the Royals.

Huskies Clinch Hockey Honors

HOUGHTON (AP)—Michigan Tech ripped Minnesota 5-1 Friday night to clinch the Western Collegiate Hockey association title.

Ricky Yeo, Fred Hall, Bob Toothill, Colin Patterson and Wayne Weller notched goals for Tech. Chuck Norby scored for the Gophers.

The victory put the Huskies' WCHA record at 14-4-1. Minnesota stands 13-8. The two teams meet again Saturday night in the season finale.

The title was the second in a row for Michigan Tech, also defending NCAA champions.

Tony Esposito, Tech goalie, made 29 saves to 30 for the Gophers' John Lothrop.

Clarke Breaks Two Mile Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Australia's distance running star Ron Clarke smashed the indoor record for two miles Friday night, winning from wire-to-wire in 8 minutes, 28.8 seconds at the Golden Gate Invitational meet.

Clarke, who already held seven world marks, outpaced such stars as Tracy Smith, Gerry Lindgren and Doug Brown in hanging up his newest record, one that eclipsed the 8:30.8 by America's Jim Beatty in 1963.

Pole vaulter John Pennell missed in his attempt to surpass his own indoor mark, of 16 feet, 10 inches, failing at 17½ inch after clearing 16-5 the first time he tried it.

Jim Grelle, veteran miler from Portland's Multnomah Athletic Club, broke meet and Cow Palace records with his time of 4:00.3.

Art Walker of the Southern California Striders also bettered meet and Cow Palace records with a triple jump of 52 feet 5½ inches on his final try.

Earl McCullough of Southern California won the 60-yard hurdles in 7.2 seconds to equal the meet record.

Jamaica's Lennox Miller, a freshman at Southern California, led all the way to win the 60-yard dash in six seconds flat, just one-tenth off the world record.

The Colorado State University Rams, December lambs in the New York Holiday Festival, may turn out to be March lions in the NCAA tournament for the national college basketball championship.

Paced by Lonnie Wright's 35 points, the Rams whipped Utah State Friday night 74-64 before a record home crowd of 9,522 at Fort Collins. It was the Rams' sixth victory in their last seven games.

The one setback in this string was to unbeaten Texas Western 68-66 on a last second basket by Bobby Joe Hill.

Utah State took an early lead, but Wright tied it at 22-22 and quickly put the Rams out in front for good.

Colorado State, now 13-6, was picked for the NCAA tourney as an at-large selection on Wednesday and paired against Houston in the first round at Wichita, Kan., March 7.

Top-seeded Davidson, led by Dick Snyder's 27 points, routed Richmond 84-65 in the semifinals of the Southern Conference championship tourney at Charlotte and will try to land an NCAA berth by beating West Virginia in the final tonight.

The Mountaineers advanced by defeating William and Mary 64-50 in the other semi.

Neumann's 28 points, clinched a tie for the Ivy League title by scoring an 83-68 road victory over Columbia. The Red and Blue can win their first Ivy crown in 13 years by beating Cornell at Ithaca, N.Y., tonight. Princeton eliminated Cornell by beating the Big Red at Ithaca 84-62.

If Penn should win the Ivy crown, however, there is a question whether the Quakers will play in the NCAA tourney because of an NCAA ruling over the controversial 1.6 academic rating.

Boston College warmed up for the NIT by crushing Seton Hall 112-77 at Newton, Mass. Temple was named to the NIT field, and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia accepted an NCAA bid. The Hawks' first round game against Providence was switched from March 8 to March 7 at Blacksburg, Va.

Three-Way Battle Looms For Tiger Infield Position

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A three-way battle for a spot on the team as utility infielder shapes up as one of the more interesting contests when the rest of the Detroit Tigers report next Wednesday.

Jake Wood, Ray Oyler and Dick Tracewski, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers in the trade for pitcher Phil Regan, are in the running. Manager Charlie Dressen says he has no favorites at this time.

Wood, a regular his first two years with the team but used less and less, remains a top contender because of his versatility and speed. He played all four infield positions while appearing in 58 games last year and has also played the outfield.

Wood was one of the more reliable pinch-hitters in the league last year, getting 9 hits in 25 times at bat and was on base 14 times in 29 pinch appearances.

"From what we have heard about Tracewski, he's better if he plays about two weeks at a stretch," Dressen said Friday.

"They say he gets going for awhile and hits like the dickens," Dressen's comment appeared to squelch, for awhile at least, talk that Tracewski would replace Jerry Lumpe as the regular second baseman.

"As far as Oyler is concerned," Dressen continued, "I would put him ahead of any of them as far as the glove is concerned."

"But, he's got to hit better to stay in there. I have him swinging a 36-ounce bat, choking up on it, and told him to go for the singles and doubles," Dressen said.

Oyler, who played winter ball in Puerto Rico, and experimented at switchhitting, said he does not feel any pressure from the addition of Tracewski to the list of infield candidates.

"I'm just going to be in there trying my best to make the team," he said. "I think I made the mistake last year of thinking I could beat out Dick McAuliffe for the shortstop's job. I found out McAuliffe is quite a shortstop."

"As far as the switch hitting is concerned, I've ditched that. The pitchers were putting too many fast balls by me when I batted lefty. We can't have that," he said.

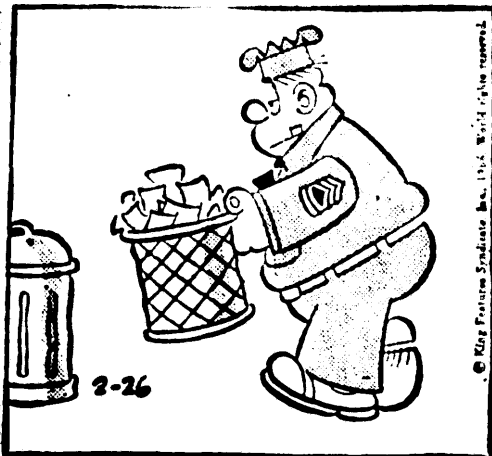

Pitchers and catchers worked outdoors for the first time Friday and the Tigers trimmed the list of unsigned players to two.

Outfielder Don Demeter, who arrived Friday, and rookie Bill Graham inked their pacts, leaving first baseman Norm Cash and pitcher Julio Navarro the only players out of the fold for 1966.

Road Sign Bill In Committee

LANSING (AP) — A billboard regulation bill that also calls for removing or screening junkyards along interstate and state highways is under consideration by a House committee.

The bill was referred to the House Roads and Bridges Committee after its introduction by Mrs. Josephine Hunsinger, D-Detroit, chairman.

The issue was hotly debated by the 1965 Legislature and has been a steady source of irritation between lawmakers and the State Highway Department.

The latest measure would restrict signs within 660 feet of the edge of the right of way of an interstate or state trunkline highway.

Permitted within that zone would be "directional and other official signs and notices... signs and devices advertising the sale or lease of property upon which the signs are located."

Also permitted would be signs advertising activities on the property. They would be permitted — subject to regulation by the State Commerce Department — on property which is used or zoned for commercial or industrial activities.

Nonconforming signs in existence before last Sept. 1 would be allowed to remain until July 1, 1970.

After Dec. 31, 1967 all junkyards would be screened or removed so as not to be visible from the main traveled portion of the road.

Removal of junkyards or scrap metal processing facilities that could not be screened would be required after July 1, 1970.

The bill also calls for compensation for the removal of a junkyard that had been legally in existence, with the federal government paying 75 per cent of the compensation and the state paying 25 per cent.

Northern Gets Texas Snowballs

HOUGHTON (AP) — Snow from Texas is being shipped by Michigan Technological University at Houghton to Northern Michigan University about 100 miles to the south.

The relay acknowledges a rare snow shortage for Northern Michigan University's winter carnival this week.

Students at Texas State College in San Marcos, Tex., sent to Michigan Tech a batch of snowballs this week after a freak storm. It was repayment for the annual airlift of snowballs sent by Michigan Tech to the Texas students for a snowball fight.

Ferency Blasts Romney Remedy For Pollution

TRENTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney's remedy for Michigan's water pollution problems "will do about as much good as an aspirin tablet in the treatment of cancer," Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency said today.

In remarks prepared for delivery at a dinner meeting of the Grosse Ile Democratic Club, Ferency attacked as inadequate the $1 million recommended in Romney's 1966-67 budget for state aid to communities with pollution problems.

"What is Romney's program for the future? Where does he propose to raise the money for water and sewage treatment facilities? How does our governor expect to save the Detroit River and Lake Erie at a cost estimated in the hundreds of millions of dollars?" he asked.

Ferency called Romney's recent testimony on water pollution before the Natural Resources committee of the National Governor's Conference "a mess of twisted logic and deliberate deception."

"According to Romney, federal assistance to hard-pressed local units of government struggling with water pollution problems is an interference with states' rights and an undermining of the states' tax base," he said, adding:

"Coming from a governor who has done next to nothing about water pollution problems... such talk is patently immoral."

Purse Snatcher In Batman Guise

CHICAGO (AP) — Zwo!

"His face was covered with a Batman mask and he was wearing bat gloves," Mary Green told police in describing a man who robbed her Friday.

Mrs. Green, 45, said she was returning through an alley to her apartment from a neighborhood grocery when a man approached partly costumed like Batman on television.

She told police he put his hand over her mouth and grabbed her purse, which contained $3 and personal papers.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Veteran Home On Leave Says:

Viet Nam Is Odd War

"What's fighting like in Viet Nam?"

Escanaba can have a first hand answer today from Specialist 5 James L. Lemoine, of 105 N. 19th St., who has served 5 months in Viet Nam with the 1st Engineer Battalion, 1st Infantry Division.

He worked as a public information specialist in Viet Nam and this got him up where they were shooting.

"I've had over 12 years in the service, said Lemoine. 'I enlisted in Escanaba in September, 1953 and was sent to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for basic training and my first overseas tour was 16 months in Korea. I came back to the State for two years and took on the job training in photography at Fort Riley, Kas., and in 1958 I went to school at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. to study photography."

"In the last month they've put up several permanent structures like mess halls, but we're still living in tents. It's a very large tent city. We aid the Vietnamese and they aid us a great deal in building this base camp. We hire refugees to do clearing for us; it helps them to rebuild their country and it relieves the American soldiers of doing this job of clearing the jungle."

"Just before I came home we started a road construction job of about 10 miles from Ben Cat to Phu Loy in the jungle and there have been many ambushes."

"The road is going through the heart of what has been Viet Cong-held territory. We're building the road because we have military units located in both of these cities and in the past we've had a supply problem of round-about roads between them. By building this road we speed up our supply route."

"Most of the heavy fighting has been in the Iron Triangle north of us. Our unit, however, has participated in it very little. We've sent our tank-dozer and flame throwers into the Iron Triangle and assisted the infantry in clearing out the Viet Cong."

"Dozers Crash Jungle
"When the Viet Cong are located the tank-dozer go in and run a compass course right into the jungle. They make the jungle look like a checker board and run over and engage the Viet Cong and the infantry follows them in."

"I wasn't wounded, but I came down with malaria. And it's terrible. I spent a month in the 93rd Medical Evacuation Hospital at Bien Hoa. I lost a lot of weight and I'm still pretty weak. Three weeks after I arrived in Viet Nam my daughter was born at Fort Riley, Kansas. In December my wife, Carol, moved to Escanaba."

"When she needed surgery, her physician asked that I be brought home, so with the aid of the Military Air Transportation Service and the Red Cross they got me home in less than 24 hours. I arrived on Feb. 15 and the surgery was performed and everything is fine. I've seen my new daughter and she's beautiful. Her name is Theresa Marie, after my mother-in-law and my mother."

"I have to report at Travis Air Force Base, San Francisco on March 16 to return to Viet Nam. I should return to the States in August."

"Morale is High
"Morale of our men in Viet Nam is very high. The people in the States have been wonderful. Presents poured in at Christmas and they were still coming in at the end of January. People in the States really put themselves out."

"The Vietnamese are very friendly and honest. They have doubts and they have fears. They fear that we're going to be like the French; that we're going to stay and dominate them. They want a free and democratic government."

"We're building up a lot of good will over there. We've built schools for them; their schools were so overcrowded that it was pitiful. We have been bolstering their economy all around."

"I cover civil action type work in photography and when there's (armed) action and of the area. They're still around, but out quite a way. We're still constantly harassed by sniper fire. We've had quite a few casualties by mines and sniper fire in the area."

"There were a great number of tunnels in this area. Many sweeps were made before we started moving in to start construction. We've done a great deal of work here. The engineers deserve most of the credit for it. When we're not out in the jungle building roads and other things we live at the base camp, a secured area."

I'm on the spot I cover it. I have six companies to cover. The infantry catches the brunt of the fighting because it's on the flanks of the engineers, guarding them. Its casualties have been heavier than ours. Only three of the companies I serve are at the base camp. The others are spread out across Viet Nam."

"Every month I spent a few days with each company, taking pictures and writing stories. You never know when you're going to run into action. They're constantly harassing us with mines. Everything may seem quiet and peaceful and all hell and fury may break loose, with mortars lobbing shells into you. I've had a few close ones, with dirt on the truck from mortar fire. And there's also sniper fire. The worst things over there are the mines. They're not land mines like you'll find in conventional warfare. They use a howitzer shell to blow up a tank. They fill a coconut with explosive and hoop up a trip wire. They make mines of our empty C Ration cans. I've seen them make a mine to take your foot off out of a rifle cartridge and a piece of steel pipe."

Senate Holds Empty Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate meets today for a special Saturday session of the great Viet Nam debate — with no debaters in sight.

Acting Democratic Leader Russell B. Long said he sent wires to all senators — including himself — pleading "If you have a speech to make, come make your speech."

But Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had just finished one four-hour address attacking administration Viet Nam policy and planned another for Monday, said he knew of no one who planned to speak today.

"If no one shows up, I'll be here," promised Long, "and if the spirit moves me I may make a speech." The Louisiana Democrat is a strong supporter of President Johnson's policies.

Johnson holds a news conference in his office today with Viet Nam to be the principal subject of discussion.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey all but sent his regrets Friday in response to an invitation from Chairman J. W. Fulbright to discuss his Asian trip and foreign aid commitments with the Foreign Relations Committee.

With its well-publicized televised hearings, Fulbright's group has been at the center of the debate criticizing Johnson's Asian policy.

When the vice president was asked about Fulbright's invitation to appear at a closed hearing, he remarked:

"I suggest congressmen should be looking for new issues and new copy and not be having replays."

Commission To Recommend Hike In Solons' Pay

LANSING (AP) — The governor's special commission on legislative compensation reported Friday it will recommend some kind of pay raise for legislators.

Dr. James Pollock, commission chairman and a University of Michigan political science professor, said the final commission report will be presented to the Legislature and Gov. George Romney in mid-April.

Pollock did not say how much increase would be recommended. Legislators now draw $10,000 a year plus $2,500 in expenses.

Romney appointed the commission to make the study after some lawmakers called for a pay hike. Any increase voted this year could not become effective until 1967.

Fay Honored By Defense Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has awarded a Defense Department citation to Elton C. Fay, veteran Associated Press military affairs writer, who is retiring.

The citation praises Fay's "long and distinguished career as a newsman and his preeminence in the field of military affairs reporting."

McNamara said "the Department of Defense is indebted to him for the great contributions he has made to public understanding of the military power of the United States."

Fay, who has served with AP for 42 years, has covered the armed forces and military affairs for 21 years.

Farm Tax Cut Passes House

The exemption affects the LANSING (AP) — A bill that could take the personal property of many Michigan farmers right off the local tax rolls was on its way to the Senate today.

The measure, passed 103-2 by the House Friday, would raise the tax exemption on farm implements from the first $1,000 to the first $5,000 in state equalized valuation (about $10,000 true cash value).

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Claude Burton, D-Bellevue, a farmer, also raises from $501 to $5,000 the exemption allowed on the personal property of small businessmen.

The exemption affects the property "used by a household or in the operation of a business in his dwelling, or at one other location in the city, township or village where the household resides."

State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock said it was impossible to tell in advance how much local governments might lose in taxes as a result of the measure. The tax brings in an estimated $3.6 million a year.

Lock said the loss would be quite small in some areas "because many rural supervisors don't assess personal property too carefully or accurately."

Rep. Floyd Mattheussen, D-Benton Harbor, also a farmer, said the locally assessed valuation of such equipment totalled $71.7 million in 1964.
